About This Report

The Metropolitan Area Planning Council is the officially designated regional planning agency for 101 cities and towns in the Boston metropolitan region. The Council helps its member communities plan in the areas of economic development, land use, housing, demographics, transportation, and environmental quality.

About the Metropolitan Data Center

This map set was created by the Metropolitan Data Center, a service of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council. The Center fills comprehensive information, data analysis and mappings needs for the Boston metropolitan area. Its development, housing, demographics, transportation, land use, water and solid waste databases on its hundred and one cities and towns provide one-stop shopping for Boston regional information needs.

Some specific highlights of our data are:

Development Activity - location, type, and size of projects proposed or under construction.

Vacant Sites - location and site features of vacant land where industrial and commercial development is permitted.

Demographic Forecasts - communities expected to grow faster than average in population, households, and employment.

Infrastructure - planned highway expansions or improvements; areas with available water and sewer capacities.

Maps - municipal zoning, land use, flood plain, sewer areas, protected open space, highway, public transit, and recent development activity, with some available in electronic form as part of our Geographic Information System (GIS).

Some reports of the Metropolitan Data Center:

Major Employers in Boston Metropolitan Communities, 1992.

1990 Census Community Profiles, 1991.

Regional and Community Population and Employment Outlook, 1989.

Population Age Group Forecast, 1989.

Business and Residential Growth in Metropolitan Boston, 1989.

People and Housing Change in Metropolitan Boston: 1980 - 1990, 1991.

Census Tract Boundary Maps

Census tract boundary maps show the individual streets, roads, rivers and other features which define the boundaries of each census tract. The boundary features are named and each tract identified by number.

The set of maps is arranged alphabetically by community. Communities contiguous to the featured community are identified along with a North arrow. The maps are shown at varying scales since greater detail is required in densely developed areas.

Other products which may be useful to have in conjunction with these maps include census tract, block group and block data on diskette by community from the Metropolitan Data Center.

The Census Tract Boundary Maps for the Boston PMSA and the Salem-Gloucester PMSA are $20 and $10 per set respectively.
